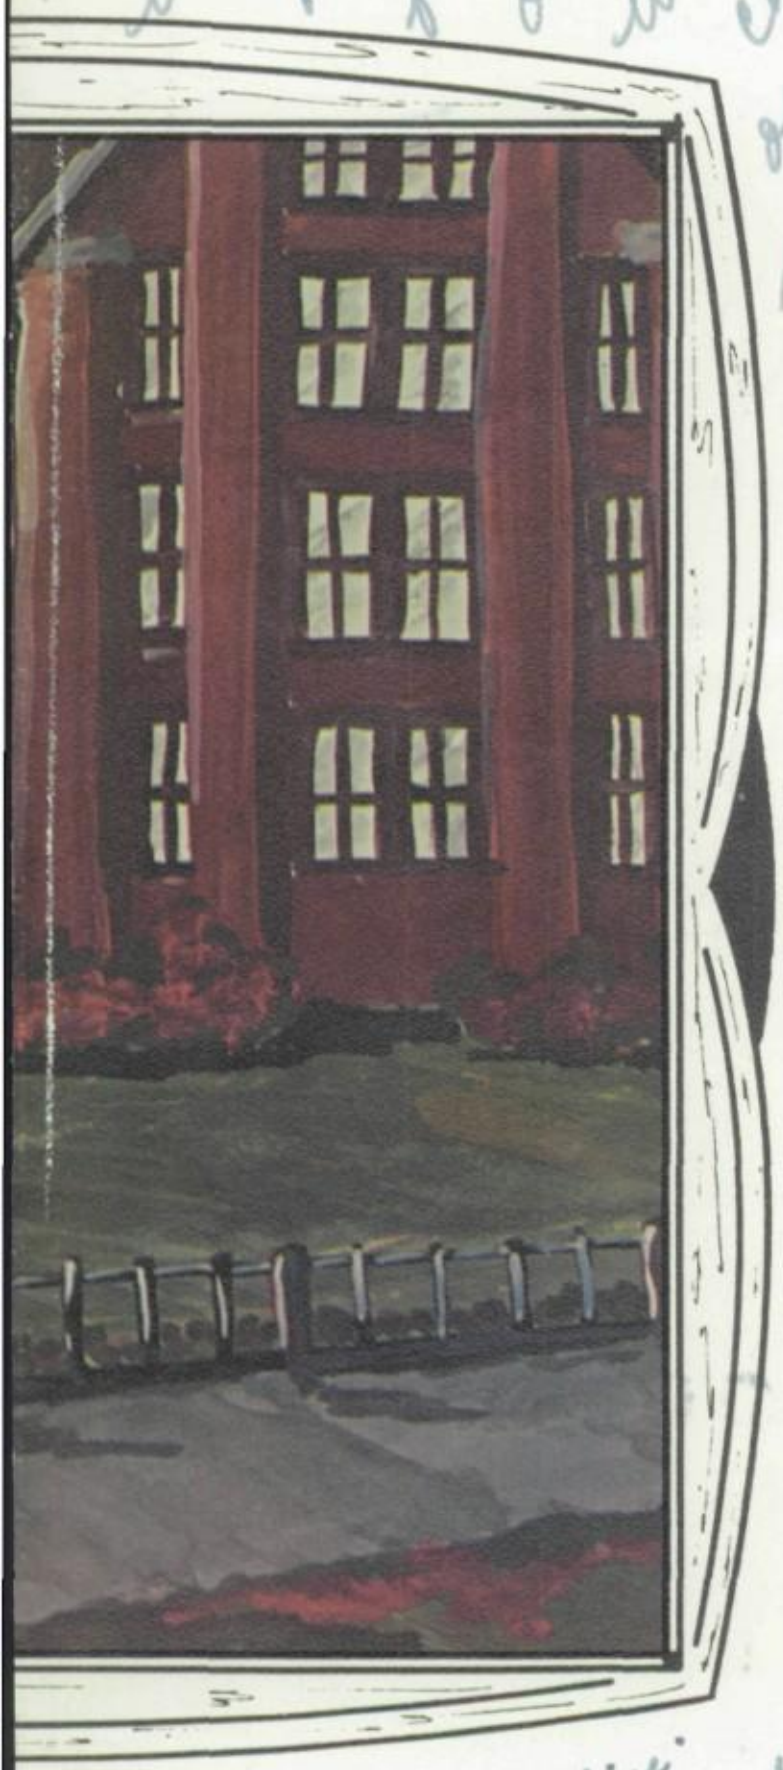
BOWENI



Just as the roar of the Twenties left its mark on Time's record, the spirit of Bowen High School will fill the annals of the future. Students of every race, religion, and cultural background will leave Bowen with a sense of accomplishment, and enter the world with a sense of purpose.

Our achievements are the result of our participation in scholastic cultural, and athletic activities. Bowen's reputation as one of Chicago's first-rate schools is the result of our contributions in these fields.

We Bowenites are bound and determined to continue fighting hard for a place on top. But win or lose, fair play and good sportsmanship will always be our guiding lights.

Here, then, is the Bowenite, the written record of the activities of the students of James H. Bowen High School during the year 1960-1961. Let us proceed now to survey the present in view of the past, blending remnants of yesterday with the animation of today.

Bowen High School remembers the many years of devoted service that Mrs. Harriette Snyder gave to education. Her high standards of personal integrity and excellent quality of her instructions has earned her this tribute by a gratified school.

Nini
Its been a lot of fun this past year, hope you have as much fun the next 3.

Thank You

During our four years at Bowen, we have seen many of the teachers who welcomed us as Freshies leave our school. Some have retired some have received appointments to higher positions, some have transferred, and some have taken temporary leaves of absence. All are missed, however, and to all those we list below, the Bowen graduates of 1961 extend grateful appreciation for their services rendered to the school. We wish them continued success and happiness in their endeavors, whatever they may be.

Dr. Hildegrade M. Romberg—Dr. Romberg served Bowen as principal from November, 1955, to June, 1959. In September, 1959, she became superintendant of district 12, having earned distinction as a superior adminstrator while at Bowen. As a result of her devotion and dedicated work, she did much to raise Bowen to its ranks among the top high schools in the Chicago area.

Mrs. Argiris, Mr. Carlin, Mrs. Graham, Miss Johnson and Mrs. O'Conner —Teachers in the English Dpartment.

Mr. Huebner and Mr. Portnoy—History teachers at Bowen for several years.

Mrs. Blaney, Miss Burke, and Mrs. Harvey — Bowen math and science teachers.

Mr. Mutz and Mrs. Porwancher—Members of the Physical Education Department.

Mr. Widman—Music teacher and Mixed Chorus director.

Mrs. Skinner—Art instructor.

Miss Allman and Mr. O'Hare—Teachers in the Home Economics and Shop Departments.

Congratulations to Bowen's R.O.T.C. for winning 2nd place in city competition.

Principal

When you look back in the years to come, 1961 will stand out in your memories because of two major events. The first, now only in the peripheral realm of your thinking but destined to have an increasing influence on your life, will be man's first missile flight into space; the second, your graduation from Bowen High School.

Though different in text and orientation, each is replete with the spirit of vigor and vitality so representative of youth, and each is alive with promise

Man stands almost breathless at the unfolding prospect of space travel, just as you, as a graduate, stand almost breathless at the prospect of the coming years and of the responsibilities and opportunities that are to be yours.

In the years to come new vistas will open up to you; work and play will crowd out your recent memories, but ultimately they will return more deeply etched and more pleasant for having aged. So it will be that a bit of you will forever more be Bowen, just as a bit of Bowen will forever more be yours.

Each year, in the sum total of class accounting, some one or two items of note are predominant. It may well be some individual scholarship, some scientific achievement, an athlete of unusual skill, a team of merit and honor, a club or group valued in service to the school, and many and other forms of significance.

In this graduating group, however, collectively you have been an ideal class. The highest purpose for which we are founded is basic education. In this area you have fitted yourselves well; those with the finest of mental capacities have displayed unusual accomplishment in our advanced programs. Those with lesser abilities have honorably and conscientiously met the standards for the high school diploma. In your respect for the personnel directing your education and your numerous activities so well carried out by you, you are to be complimented for your honesty, your citizenship and your understanding of justice, fairness, and co-operation.

Of your mold we can look forward to a continuation, if not an improvement, of those foundations through which we thrive and of those objectives which we set forth for our nation.

Nostagically, we bid you adieu because you leave with us fond memories of your brief, though most valued, tenure at Bowen.

Sincerely,

Eli J. Goldberg

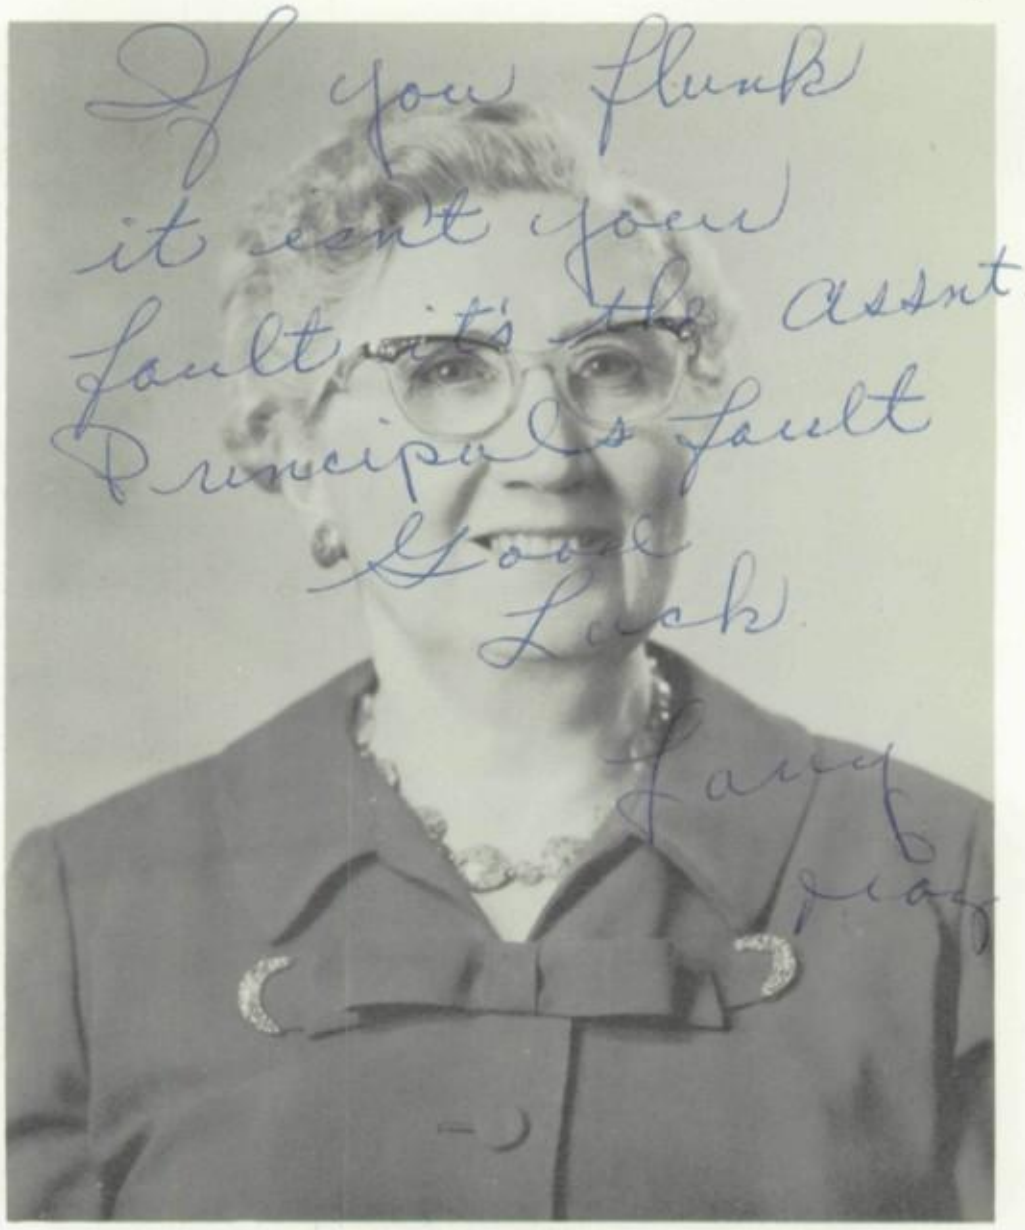
"THE AGE OF MIRACLES IS FOREVER HERE"—Carlyle



The successful flight of man into space in this year 1961 has captured the imagination of all thinking individuals and has caused various reactions to each in turn. For some there is a feeling of tremendous excitement and exhilaration to be living in this age of miracles; for others, there is intense admiration of the men who by application of their phenomenal accumulation of scientific and mathematical knowledge can produce a missile of such outstanding power. However, no matter what other reflections may be aroused in our students today by this great feat, all must appreciate the patience, years of training, physical courage, devotion to duty, love of country, and faith in God and his fellow man exhibited by the first astronaut of the United States.

It is evident that our astronaut has followed the pattern of character of other men of other times whose illustrious deeds grace the pages of history. With such a pattern perpetuated, it is clear the proof of the words of Carlyle—"The age of miracles is forever here."

Here at Bowen, we have extracurricular activities that are many and varied. The program is arranged to include interests ranging from singing to acting, from writing to photography, and from serving to organizing. These fields of interests and many more are represented by the activities of Bowenites during the past year.

Why, you may ask, do we have clubs? We have clubs to benefit the students, who, in turn contribute to the betterment of Bowen. Clubs provide a place for you to use your creative ability and to expend your interests. By participating in the club of your choice, you put to practical use the knowledge that you acquire in class.

The following pages contain a complete survey of Bowen's extracurricular activities from September, 1960, to June, 1961. Representing the clubs are the members who have taken an active part in organizing and carrying out the program set up by the students themselves.

The Commercial Department has welcomed a new organization to its ranks since 1959, the Distributive Education program.

The program is divided into two phases; the classroom phase, and the actual hours put in at a job. D.E. members take courses in merchandising and retailing, for which they receive one major credit; they also receive a major credit for the job itself. The students are dismissed from school after sixth or seventh period and report for work.

Each student has an on-the-job supervisor, who makes regular reports to the co-ordinator, Mr. Dravillas. As co-ordinator Mr. Dravillas teaches the commercial courses, finds employment for the students, and then co-ordinates the information presented in class with the experience and step-by-step training obtained on the job. The D.E. program has also found full time employment for many high school graduates.

In conjunction with the D.E. program, a D.E club was formed. Because they are excused from school early in the afternoon, the participating students of D.E. miss much of the social life of Bowen such as games, dances, and club meetings. The D.E. Club was established primarily to supply a social outlet for its members.

The Commercial Department is delighted to have a new and increasingly important organization—D.E.—as an integral part of its program.

What a supporting cast!

An important part of any school is a thorough and well-equipped shop department. In Bowen's three shops, boys learn technical skills which will prepare them for future professions.

The Print Shop serves a double purpose. Not only does it give boys a chance to learn about setting type and operating printing presses, but also provides the school with its much needed printed material.

Students who take Wood Shop are taught the basic principles of wood construction and are given the opportunity to use modern equipment, such as electric saws, drills, presses, etc.

The newest of Bowen's shops, the Auto Shop, is a well-equipped and efficient place where boys combine learning with practical application in auto mechanics. Among the cars they service are their own and those of the faculty.

Graduates of Bowen's shop department are surely prepared for success in the technical world.

What skirt length?

This was a year of many firsts. One of these was the first Mother's Day on which our nation's flag was flown over public and private establishments. Newly elected President Kennedy felt that this was a great tribute to Mothers, the heart of the American home.

Bowen, too, pays tribute to its future homemakers throughout the entire year by teaching home economics courses. As future homemakers, girls should feel the necessity of being adequately prepared for this role. At Bowen, they can learn to care for a family, cook, sew, and do the other household tasks with speed and efficiency. These girls gain the confidence that will be enough to strengthen and unify their homes

Home economics courses are practical. Bowen will continue to salute its future homemakers by offering them a wonderful opportunity to gain this practical knowledge.

They keep themselves in stitches.

The art department has put its prodigies to work. The results are murals to decorate the lunchroom. Bill Niven and Kathleen Doughty of Mr. Gustafson's class and Marsha Love, Judy Lesner, Joanne Kaufman, and Lois Wolf of Mrs. Dumont's class were responsible.

Diane Losiniecki, Leonard Goldstein, Jack Gellman, Jeri Pfoffenback, and Charles Hartrick brought superb ratings at the concert.

On the activities list for students in the music department was the showing of the full-length color movie, "The Story of Gilbert and Sullivan."

Of course the main event of the year for all art and music students was the annual "May Festival." Art students exhibited their work on the lawn during the festival week and the choruses, orchestra, and band presented two concerts in the auditorium.

School-spirited teacher instructs school-spirited class about school-spirited outline.

An analytical essay on a book never discussed, a seminar discussion on the attributes of the Sophoclean tragedies—at Bowen? Seems too advanced for a high school? Not at all! In September, 1961, the Board of Education in collaboration with Bowen's English Department initiated a special program of college classes for qualified seniors. Southeast Junior College presented the program through Southeast English instructors,

"But that's not so, Mr. Lite. That just won't do."

Mr. Ashton and Miss Eichenfeld. Two classes in College Rhetoric 101 were offered, one for 4A's the other for 16 4B's. College credit was awarded as well as high school credit in the regular English course that was replaced by the rhetoric.

In February, 1961, Southeast and Bowen launched part two of the so-far-successful experiment. The new 4A's "graduated" to Rhetoric 102 and a new group of 4B's began their college careers. Mr. O'Mara taught Literature 2.

Facing The World's Challenge

The United States is a country rich in history and tradition. But, since our country finds itself continually being challenged by nations such as Russia, it cannot be permitted to stand on its previous record. America must keep moving, continually creating a new history. Both current and past events are part of Bowen's reorganized history department.

Bowen has found it essential to keep up with world affairs. The new history system is Bowen's attempt to keep all students aware of the challenges of today's world. For the first time, Bowenites are required to take three years of history. These courses include everything from early world history to the very recent occurences. We are able to study our own country's history as well as that of our world neighbors. We discuss the current world headlines as often as we delve into the past.

One cannot say that history is a stagnant subject. History is dynamic. Bowen can be proud of the lessons its students learn. The students can be proud of their world education and of the American heritage.

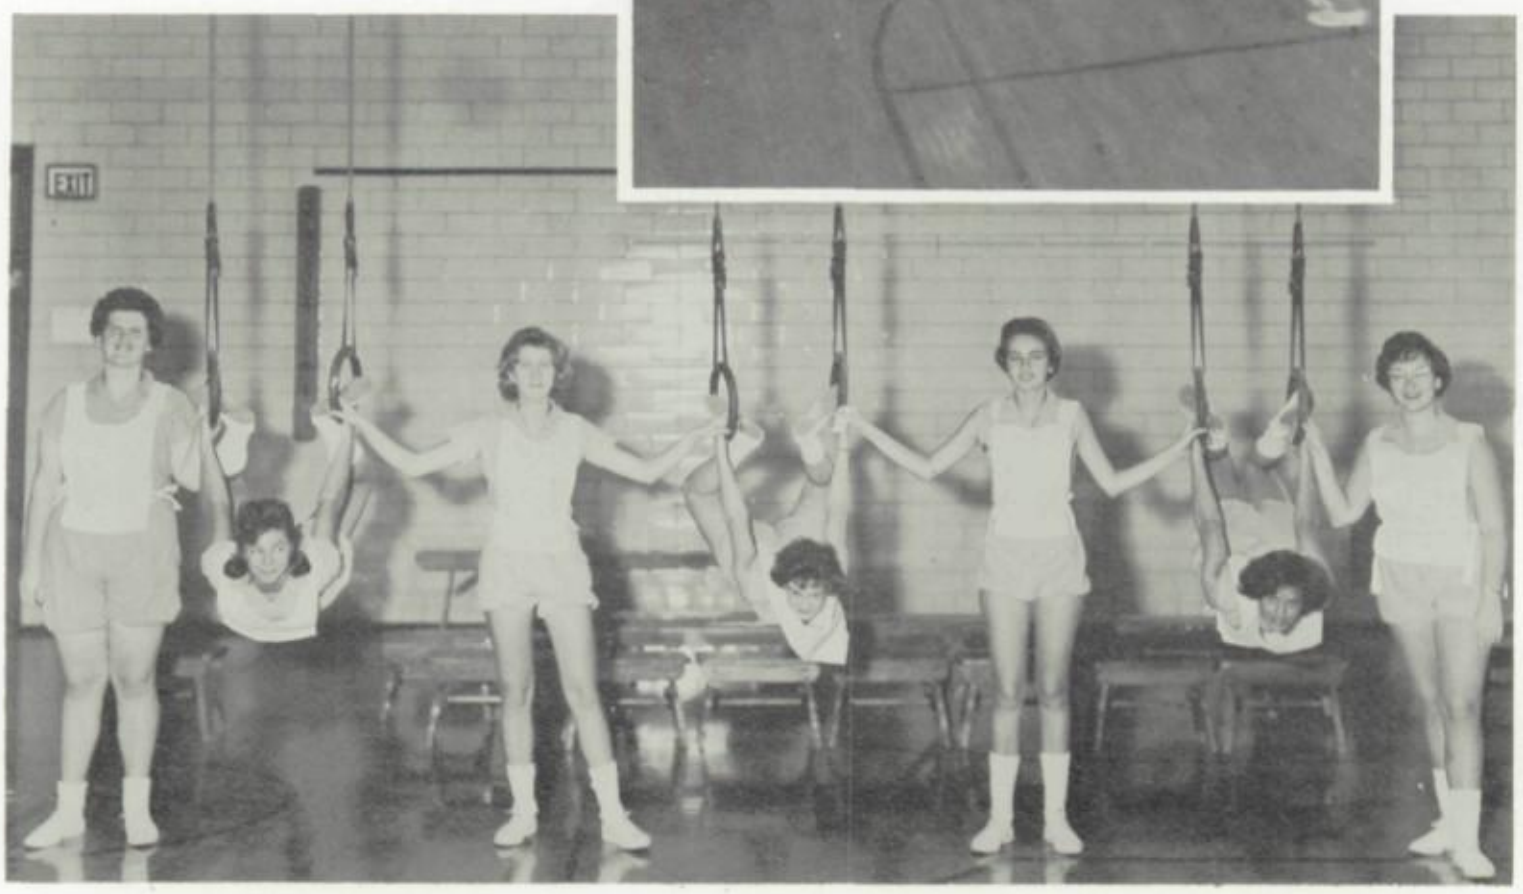
Lose a Pound - Add a Muscle

Many girls want to lose weight; many boys want to develop their muscles. Both boys and girls want to participate in sports activities. Where can they do this? Why, in the noisiest and most spirited room in the school, the gymnasium.

Bowen's gym classes are filled with many different types of strenuous activities, ranging from daily exercising to team games and dancing and marching. The importance of unified team work and good sportsmanship are emphasized at all times, and the students learn that playing a game fairly can be exciting whether it is won or lost.

In addition to games, the gym classes also have lessons in improving posture and co-ordination. Every year the girls compete in the annual posture contest and the winner receives an award at the semi-annual G.A.A. assembly. Developing good co-ordination is accomplished through proficiency tests and stunts, which include such exercises as knee raises, push ups, sit-ups, and chin-ups. Physical Education offers every student the opportunity to develop his athletic talents and to learn the essentials of physical fitness.

Months of practice train the boys to march in perfect unison.



Gym helpers take time out to try the rings.

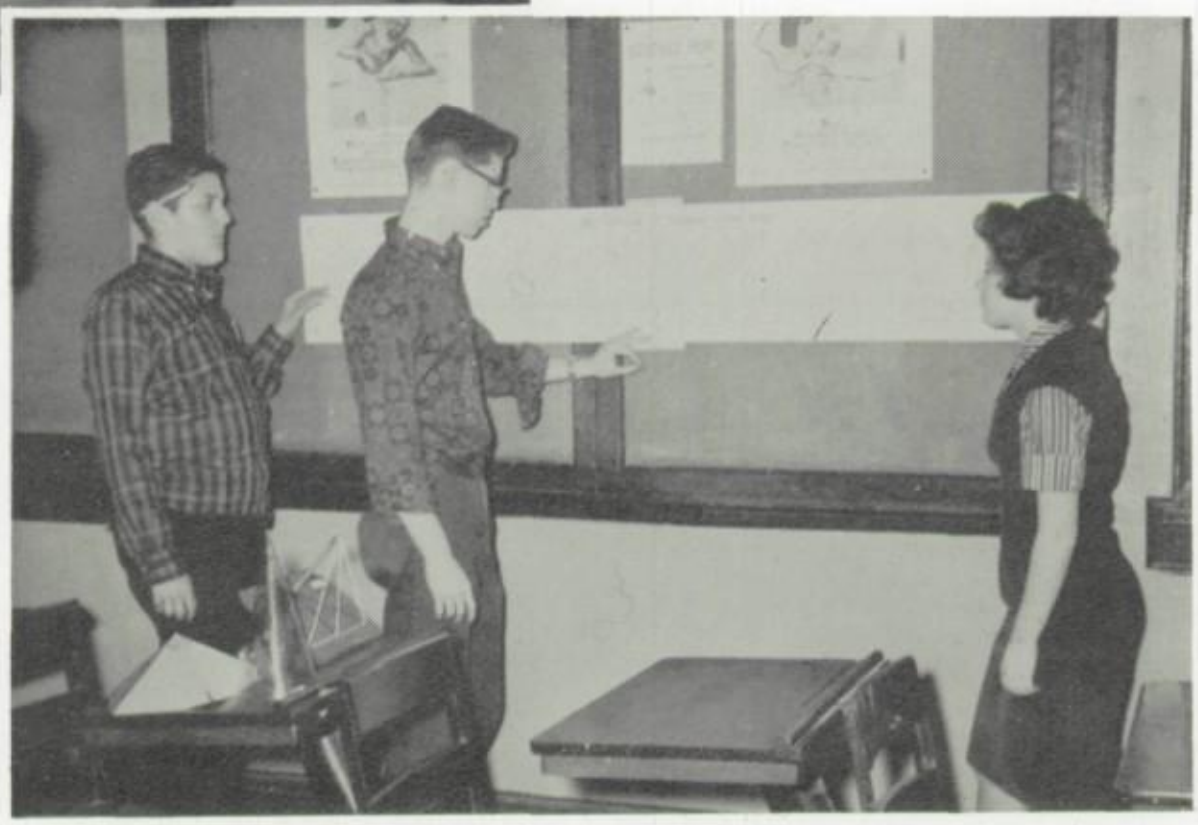
Have Slide Rule Will Compute

Three dimensional figures are really food for thought.

All over the U.S.A., the emphasis is on science, and Bowen is no exception. Our Science Department provides excellent courses in biology, physics, and chemistry. Bowenites have the opportunity to learn many subjects, ranging from the mystery of the atom to the tiny one-celled creatures that live in puddles and ponds. Secrets of the physical world are disclosed through study of such phenomenons as light, sound, and electricity. Fascinating facts about the world we take for granted are brought to life for eager science students.

Bowen is well prepared to do a good job of training its students. Our chemistry and physics laboratories are filled with the best equipment. And our biology lab was recently re-supplied with new microscopes.

If it is true that science is the key to the future then the doors at Bowen are waiting to be opened.



The slide-rule can be a great help in solving complicated problems in Bowen's advanced math classes.

Halls and Hearts

From rhythmic spirituals to soft, warm musical compositions—the choruses of Bowen High School provide an opportunity for music lovers to expand their knowledge of this art. The tension of the choral competition, the beauty of the May Festival, and the inspiration of the Christmas processional, as well as the excellent performance of "Down in the Valley," given by the Mixed Chorus, all join to make membership in Bowen's choruses an unforgettable memory. After many weeks of diligent practice, the performers are always rewarded by the applause of a grateful audience and the self-satisfaction of having participated in these worthwhile presentations.

Service With

Want to have a movie shown? Contact the Visual Education Club. Planning an assembly? Be sure to notify the Stage Crew. Want to publicize Clean-Up Week? That's the job of the Clean-Up Committee. Thanks to these three important service organizations of Bowen, many school functions are better carried out.

The Visual Education Club is in charge of the scheduling, securing, and showing of all films in the school. Members are instructed in operating movie and slide projectors. The services they render are very valuable to education at Bowen.

The Clean-Up-Committee concerns itself with most of the "dirty work" at Bowen. Clean-up campaigns slogan contests, and various other activities concerned with keeping Bowen clean are the basis for their organization's annual program.

These three service organizations are here saluted for their valuable assistance to their school. Their's is an important link in Bowen's chain.

Shutterbugs And Catalyzers

In the past year, the Bowen Catalyzers has had a very full program. The trip to Argone National Laboratories, which was attended by thirty members of the club, will be remembered for a long time. The tour included lectures and demonstrations given by top scientists. In the spring, the Catalyzers was privileged to have at Bowen a glass blower from the University of Chicago. After giving a brief history of glass, he proceeded to demonstrate the fundamentals of his art.

Bowen's Bookhouse Thrives

In October, 1959, Mr. Jerome O'Mara initiated the Bowen Bookhouse as an outgrowth of the Scholastic Magazines Teenage Book Club, a mail service book-of-the-month club. The Bookhouse was created to provide Bowen students and teachers with a variety of paperback books, available at all times in an easily-accessible location.

Today the Bowen Bookhouse has grown into a thriving enterprise, open each morning from 7:45 to 8:15 and during periods 6, 7, and 9. The Bookhouse was given two three-shelf cabinets in the fall of 1960. In a year and a half of business it has sold 4400 paperback books and pamphlets, and it has steadily increased its stock to the present total of some 3000 books, including 200 fiction titles and 400 non-fiction titles.

Mr. O'Mara and the clerks suggest that you "visit the Bookhouse the next time you need a book for an assignment," and they invite you to "just come in and browse around."

Future Nurses

America needs teachers. America needs nurses. Will the teen-agers of today be prepared to meet the demands of the future? This depends upon each individual, for he must have enough initiative to discover sources of information.

At Bowen, students have a chance to join the F.T.A. and F.N.A., which give them the opportunity to develop an interest in the teaching and nursing professions. Each organization plans programs that give its members a better understanding of their future tasks. These programs teach the members how to use and apply basic principles in their respective professions.

The F.T.A. and the F.N.A. play an important role in preparing young citizens to take their place in the American society.

Have you ever noticed the trophies and plaques on display in the showcase? A great many of those trophies have been won by Bowen's outstanding R.O.T.C.

The R.O.T.C. Battle Group, as it is now called, has maintained high standards ever since its inception in 1918. The trophies the cadets have won attest to the fact that the Bowen R.O.T.C. is known as one of the finest units in the city, and has been for many years.

M/Sgt. John Boyle and S.F.C. Kenneth Beckman, instructors of the unit, remind us that the 1960-61 season has been one of the best ever.

Last fall, the Drill Platoon took first place in the district, beating out seven other schools for the honor, and finished a close second in the city finals held at the Northwest Armory. The Rifle Team won first place in the district, and placed second in the city in the Hearst Trophy match sponsored by the Fifth Army.

On April 21, the R.O.T.C. held its Fourth Annual Military Ball at the Roseland American Legion Post. After recuperating from the Ball, the entire unit began practicing for the Federal Inspection on May 11. At the inspection, ranks were announced for the coming semester and medals were awarded.

The Bowen Battle Group was accorded still another honor. Three cadets earned places on the 19-man City Cadet Corps Staff—Maj. Jeffery Lite, Captain John Jeffery, and M/Sgt. Richard Axelrod—while M/Sgt. Dennis Mezydlo won a position on the First Brigade Staff.

As a final recognition for the year, the Bowen unit was selected as Honor Guard for Mayor Daley and General Cummings, Fifth Army Commander, during the Armed Forces Day Parade on May 20.

Cadet Lt. Col. James Trawinski was commended for his fine work as Unit commander for the spring semester.

All in all, the cadets—and all Bowenites—agree that this has been an outstanding year for the great Bowen R.O.T.C.

A T H L E

1961—the beginning of a new decade of Bowen sports—a year of victories and defeats mingled with fun, spirit, and memories. If this past year was at all representative of the nine years to follow, Bowen might very well see the Boilermaker's feats of the 1920's repeated, or perhaps even excelled. The twenties saw Bowen's team reap great rewards in Basketball, Football, Baseball, and other sports, as well as witnessing the start of one of Bowen's outstanding clubs, the G.A.A.

The 1960-61-season saw Bowen receive equal glory from its athletic teams. The 1960 Gridders although not trophy winners, displayed sportsmanship, promising ability and undaunted spirit. The Basketball team, playing with the same championship quality of the team of the '20's fought its way to a second-place finish in the section with a 7-3 record, and a chance in the city play-offs. The rising young sport of the '20s long since the National sport by the '60s was well received at Bowen, where the Baseball team had a very successful season.

In 1925, Bowen's first G.A.A. was organized, only to find that 36 years later, its bloomer-sporting members were still shooting baskets, spiking volleyballs, and winning letters.

Sports have changed since the '20s, but never the excitement and thrills which go with them. Bowen's sports record for 1961 bear that same long-to-be-remembered distinction which marked the '20s. For this, we salute them

Grid Season

36 Athletes

Looking back, it was a successful season. Not as far as won-lost and points scored records are concerned—a 0-6 record with seven points scored against the opponents' 125 in those six games certainly cannot be considered successful in itself. But there's more to life than winning; there's more to success than a box score.

The season was successful because thirty-six boys derived a great deal of pleasure and satisfaction by making the team, and enjoyment by representing Bowen on the playing field.

The season was successful because over 1,000 Bowenites saw the Boilermakers play and displayed spirit and sportsmanship which has been an example for other Public League participants.

The season was successful because Bowen showed fighting determination both on the field and in the stands.

In an interview, Mr. Goldberg commented, "Over the years I've known many boys and many teams, and win or lose, it has been my experience to recognize that the boys and the teams have given of themselves for an objective that transcends the sport itself. This includes such things as sportsmanship, loyalty, fellowship, integrity, and team play. As a result, after graduation, this develops into the true American democratic spirit when an individual thinks of himself as a cog in the wheel of democracy."

Bowen Cagers Bounce To

The 1960-61 basketball season saw the Boilermakers of Bowen finish 2nd in the section. With a 7-3 league record, Bowen was 2nd only to Harlan in the South Section Blue Division. This standing earned for the Purple and Gold a berth in the playoffs.

Although we did not take the state title, this year's cage season provided much excitement for Bowenites. There were large crowds at every game —crowds of enthusiastic cheering students.

This year's team was one of the finest to play for Bowen in several years. As the numbers in the "win" column mounted, school spirit increased. Hoarse Bowenites initiated their already aching throats in urging the team on to victory. The stands were filled with students applauding the spectacular playing of their boys. And the ever faithful cheerleaders found themselves shouting "VICTORY at the close of most of the games.

All Bowen was delighted with the team that Coach John Costello had produced. For his efforts, Coach Costello was named "Area Coach of the Year" by the Chicago Daily Calumet.

Bat, Ball, and Boilermakers

Our team this year had high expectations and accomplished even higher achievements. The many returning lettermen gave the team much-needed experience which it combined with good hitting, fielding, and pitching. The hopes of the team were summed up by Coach Pritikin who said that the team might easily win the sectional title with a few breaks. However, no great succession of wins was needed to inspire the team's loyal fans who came out to every game to cheer on the boys.

Front Row: L. Albin, M. Gomez, M. Brody, T. Conway, P. Mappa, C. Silverman, B. Guzman, G. Dosen.
Back row: A. Schuster, A. Neuman, C. Schwartz, N. Scharf, R. Marco, D. McGuan, M. Ochwat, J. Guajardo, J. Tylk, B. Richlik, Coach H. Pritikin.

A glimpse at the halls of Bowen during the four-minute passing period is a glimpse at Bowen's student body. And what is revealed at one glance of the eye is a scene familiar to all: 1900 chatting, laughing voices; 1900 bright, flashing colors moving through the halls at varied speeds; 1900 pairs of arms carrying an interesting assortment of books and papers; 1900 minds concentrating on next period's English exam, the basketball game after school, and what to wear at the big party Saturday night; 1900 participants in school activities of every sort—sponsors, officers, members; 1900 students, all heading toward one goal—the day when they would leave the halls of Bowen as better-prepared individuals ready to accept the responsibilities of life. All this we see in one glance—the sparkling, moving, wonderful student body of Bowen High School, 1961.

The class of January, 1961. Had it been written on our foreheads it couldn't have been easier to see. We were "freshies".

Four years isnt a long time . . . or is it? How much could change in four short years? We might have had a conversation like this four years ago:

Freshie girl, "What's your program? (giggle, giggle)."

Freshie boy, "I go 2nd through 9th. What about you?"

Freshie girl, "Oh, are you lucky! I go 3rd through 10th. When do you have lunch?"

Freshie boy, "Seventh, of course. Didn't you see me yesterday?"

Freshie girl, "I saw you the day before, but not yesterday. I have lunch seventh, too. (sigh)"

Freshie boy, "Yes! I know, ahem—I mean—uh—someone told me you do—uh—I mean, well, sometimes I sit in the Pump Room and sometimes in the big room—Gosh!! Did you really look for me? (blush)"

So the conversation might have proceeded. Just a brief glance can show how very much four years can bring. Administrative changes have improved the organization of Bowen. No longer is division between second period and third. Table hopping just isn't acceptable any longer!

Perhaps four years is a long time. The giggling freshie girl and blushing freshie boy have grown into mature individuals, ready to face the world. They have changed, in these four years, and have helped their school to change, the results being mutual betterment. Strong ties have been made, in these four years, and a great deal of knowledge attained. The changes, since we've come and gone, will continue onward, ever reaching for perfection.

We are seniors. If it were written on our foreheads it couldn't be easier to see. The Class of January, 1961.

Graduation At Last

Spring will appear in all her glory. The earth will shiver as Nature begins to demonstrate her wondrous talents. Soon, very soon, the trees will blossom, the birds will sing. Then the sun will shine intensly, and the trees will have a great thirst, and the birds will grow restless. As autumn arrives the trees will greet her with a majestic display of vivid colors, and the birds will have gone. Then, the snow will tumble quietly from the heavens, covering the still earth in a blanket of sparkling gems. And a year will have passed.

Vivid recollections will begin to fade, and gradually become obscured by time, but one memory will remain. It will not grow tarnished with age. It will not be forgotten—Graduation Day.

The poignant strains of "Hope and Glory" will play on. The tearful, proud eyes of loved ones will be remembered. The ivory-colored diplomas, though they will grow yellow with age, will remain crisp and white in all thoughts.

These are memories time cannot erase, these are eternal.

We Enter To Learn; We Go Forth To Serve

We enter to learn; we go forth to serve: the motto of the January 1961 graduating class. It is symbolic of idealism of youth.

We enter to learn . . . youth is not content with gazing at the world around us and saying, "This is it, I will take my place in it someday." We want to know why: Why has history shaped the world to its present form? We want to learn about man, not merely his physical state, but what man has done to fulfill his obligations to his heritage, and what our obligations are. This motto has been chosen rather than one which reflects cynical, bitter attitudes of disillusionment and dissatisfaction with our troubled world. The post World War II generation has grown up in an atmosphere unique from that of any previous one; for we are living in a constant state of war; subtle, insidious, deadly war.

We go forth to serve . . . we go forth to help our fellow man. Today's youth understands the full implications of the cold war. We know the delicate balance between possible war and lasting peace. We know what the term "total war" means: the devastation of millions of lives, and perhaps even the destruction of civilization as we know it today. We hear the hypocritical promises of co-existence by foreign powers and see the same promises flagrantly broken. We see the weaknesses of mankind, but we also see the strengths, and the motto is not one of despair, but one of hope and optimism. More important, it is one of self sacrifice.

Youth does not cry, "It is not our fault, why should we care?" Instead we are anxious to go forth and give what we can to help mankind. We are determined that all is not lost, that there is a wondrous, promising future awaiting us and the rest of the world.

Class of June

We entered the halls of Bowen—students of different backgrounds, interests, and ideals, each with our own future ahead of us.

We grew from awkward unsure youngsters to mature young adults. General Science was replaced by Chemistry, Algebra by Analytical Geometry, elementary shop and mechanical drawing, by advanced drafting and commercial courses. Lockers shifted from fourth floor wooden lockers to first floor metal lockers in "Senior Row". We were no longer obscure members of various clubs, but their leaders and officers. We found our names in print, not occasionally, but now regularly in the Bowen Arrow. The Bowenite echoed with our names, pictures and accomplishments. We turned from the youngest and most inexperienced members of the student body to the throbbing, beating heart of the school itself. We were no longer freshies; we were seniors.

We prepared to leave the halls of Bowen—students of different backgrounds, interests, and ideals, each with his own future ahead of him. We were Bowenites —the Class of June '61

School Spirit

What spirit is there in a balcony: a balcony that faces a lawn, laden with people; curious people; interested people; people waiting to be inspired by the girls in the white skirts and purple and gold cheer sweaters; eager, inquisitive people; wondering people; "Who's on the football team this year? Who's going to be the ball carrier? Who's going to be the standard-bearer? Who's going to be on the team? Who's going to be supplying the spirit?"

What spirit is there in a game: a fooball game; a basketball game; a baseball game; a tennis match; a swim meet? What spirit is there in a group of boys, representing their school in competition, in ability, in name, in their hearts; playing their best, trying their hardest, seeking to bring glory to their school, to their cheerleaders, to their fans?

What spirit is there in a tear: a material symbol of happiness, of sadness, of utter desperation, of utter elation? The game won, the game lost: "I'm not crying; I've got something in my eye." a cheerleader sobs "But we deserved to win that game. We should have won. The squad will be so disappointed." Or, "We had to win! The squad will be so happy. They worked so hard. Thank Heaven!"

What spirit is there in school halls: teeming halls, filled with unintelligible jabbering, with noise of freshies with laughs of sophomores, with conversations of juniors, with songs of graduates, with work-outs of training teams, with ears and exhaustion of never-tiring cheerleaders, with the breath of spring in a cheer, with cheers of youth at the pep rally, with exuberant shouts of a victorious team, with the sighs of the years that are only passing through? The spirit is there. The spirit is Bowen!

Bowen Is The Melting Pot – Symbolic Of America

What better way can we learn to live with our neighbors than to attend school with them? Unlike students of other schools throughout the nation, even the city, we Bowenites have that opportunity. As a result of the association with the representatives of various nationalities and religions which differ from our own, we learn that all men are created equal, and no race is superior or inferior to any other.

Just as America is termed "the melting pot of the world," Bowen can be called a local "melting pot" representative of America as a whole. Catholic, Protestant, Jew, Caucasion, Negro, Oriental, Indian, all study together and enjoy recreation together every day. Mexicans, Russians, Polish, French, English, Italians or Americans for many generations, all will share in the same future of America, even though heritages are diversifeld.

Let us hope that with he intelligence we gain through academic studies, together with knowledge and understanding of others, we can destroy the walls of prejudice. We already know that however small the results are so far, the foundations of those walls have already begun to crumble. By coming face to face with those groups toward whom prejudice is directed, we find that there is no strong basis, or reason for those prejudices.

"He Can Who Thinks He Can"

A young boy and a young girl are setting sail in a sea of uncertainty. They wonder what the future holds for them. As they try to see through the inky water of time, feelings mixed with fear and excitement flow through their thoughts.

On the water's surface are the plans they have made—their goals, aspirations, and hopes. But doubt and uncertainty fill the water's depths. Through a mist they perceive insurmountable obstacles to overcome, baffling puzzles to solve, and intriguing problems to tackle. They see that their voyage across the sea will not be an easy one. They know that they must have determination, confidence, and imagination to overcome disappointment and discouragements. But the boy and girl are capable of accomplishing whatever task they set for themselves.

On the shore far away lies the threshold of their careers. The voyage will be long and tedious. Their careers hold the challenges that they are anxious to meet. They have set sail now, for destinations unknown. These youth go forth with one thought foremost in their hearts: there is much to learn and much to do with the knowledge they acquire.

THE PROM — SOMETHING SENTIMENTAL

They entered the room—their hearts were light,
Here was the climax, the wonderful night.
Vibrant melodies flowed hrough the air
Here was Something Sentimental, they all wished to share.
The Spirit was gala—the girls' flowers so bright
It heightened the picture with gayness and light.
The mood slowly changed—the gayety faded,
The present was known, but the future pervaded.
And through the room spread the thrill of the night
That bound hearts together with a caressing delight
And in their minds they sought for a way
To return once again to their high school days.
As self-conscious Freshies they came to high school,
Very careful to learn and observe each rule.
And after a week of utter confusion,
They began to correct the supposed illusions.

And thus they progressed to year number two:
It was then that they learned clubs counted, too.
Hallguard and school service were open to all,
'Twas then they realized their world was too small.
As Juniors their activities expanded much more—
F.T.A., N.H.S., Student Council, clubs galore.
And then for college they had to prepare
Hunting answers to questions how, what, why, and where.
Realization came the three years had gone fast
Now they were seniors—to graduate at last.
The years had been fun, and past memories beckoned
At the prom they assembled on the night of June 2nd.
Their eyes were so bright, their faces so flushed
Joy flooded their hearts, it came with a gush.
Life's a store house of memories; some inevitably fade—
But their prom night will never drift into shade.

Seniors

Small but mighty, the Class of January, 1962 has distinguished itself in all phases of Bowen life.

Its members have participated as officers of almost every club and sport at Bowen, including the NHS, choruses, and baseball team.

From their first day at Bowen in February, 1958, they have been honored with many firsts: the first to take four years of English, and three years of social studies, in addition to their regular classes, and the first to hold a class baseball game and party.

These activities show the unity and spirit of these Seniors, who, upon leaving Bowen, will take with them the memories of four well-spent years.

Yes, as a class they're small, but good things come in small packages.

Juniors

What makes the Junior Class of 1961 unique? The Junior Class of Bowen High School is unequaled in one major factor. Thirty members of our class were the first to begin their first year on the 100 program. Since these students were started on this accelerated program, many have been added and many have been dropped, keeping the number moderately stable.

In their first year these students took all star classes including Biology 1 and 2 and Telescoped Algebra 1, 2 and 3. The students continued to work very hard in their second year by taking all star classes including Physics 1 and 2 and Telescoped Geometry 1, 2 and 3. These students, now in their third year, are taking Chemistry 1 and 2, and Trigonometry, or Algebra 4.

Through the merits of this program these students now find themselves a complete year ahead of their peer group in science and mathematics. Although it has been a lot of hard work for them, they all agree that the result will be well worth their trouble.

Sophomores

Two unforgettable years of high school life: games, clubs, new friends and experiences, the challenge of high school classes—these are the things this year's sophomores see as they pause midway in their careers at Bowen to evaluate their lives here.

Entering in 1959, they discovered the principal was new, too. With her they attended Freshie teas and assemblies learned new rules, met new subjects, teachers, and friends, and aimed for new goals. Interested freshies joined the newly formed Drama Club. They were among the first to make use of the new furniture in the library and social room, to enjoy the Book House, and were among the first members of the Bowen Chapter of the Key Club. There was the exciting day their girls' volleyball team beat the sophomores of that year, and many other days that will be remembered.

Participating in activities, and carrying on Bowen's traditions, the 1961 sophomores have spent two memorable years here, and are looking forward eagerly to spending two more wonderful, fun-filled years carrying on the Bowen spirit.

Freshmen

We can always look back on Bowen and recall those happy times we had. Best of all was being a Freshie. Despite the teasing from the upperclassmen, the wonderful feeling of being in a new and exciting world filled our hearts with tremendous happiness. Meeting people, making friends, getting along with others, and learning how to accept responsibility is all a part of life. As Freshmen, we are learning how to get along in a larger group of people. Our big challenge will come when we enter college, and the training which we received at Bowen will prove worthwhile. All this had its beginning in our Freshman year.

Dear Nini,
Grammar school was your thing.
I really enjoyed working with you in the office and I have one more thing to say, "An old Chinese proverb, "Two years is too long a time to be angry with your friends." I'm sorry that I didn't have any classes with you so far. Lots of luck in the future.
Your friend,
Judi Luebke
